MDF FINISHES

Medium-Density Fibreboard (MDF) is a form of engineered wood with a water repellent coating, used in various joinery units, from kitchens to bathrooms. MDF has a far higher load-bearing capacity than particleboard. At Wintons Teak we use sprayed-on polyurethane finishes for all of our solid colour, which ensures that the colour is applied evenly and leaves a smooth finish. Most importantly, with quality polyurethane finishes, the furniture does not experience "yellowing", this happens when the white finish turns yellow over time.
